

Due to me not being able to get the hang of Morse code I am no longer able to do anything in the Amatuer area. TRy as I might I cant get it. And the funny thing is the reason I got into the Ham radio was to talk world wide. Please make it so Techs have tech plus access. And make Expert the one that has to have morse. That would really make it mean something.

Set aside one band so there is a REAL life morse code training area as that would encourage even more who have morse down to help. And those who need help the ability to say "Hey, I talked to france on morse"

Help me!
